What does it do?

The Society is a registered charity founded in 1910 by the Reverend Canon Charles Foster to publish records and documents relating to the ancient county and diocese of Lincoln. A great mass of unprinted Lincolnshire material survives, especially in the Lincolnshire Archives Office, the National Archives, the British Library, Lincoln Cathedral Archives and elsewhere. The objective of the Society is to make as much of this material as possible available to amateur and professional historians.

The ancient diocese covered not only Lincolnshire, the second largest county in England, but also the large area which lay within the medieval diocese: the counties of Lincoln, Leicester, Northampton, Rutland, Oxford, Bedford, Buckingham, Huntingdon and northern Hertford. Recent publications have included subjects as diverse as 18th century midwifery and pharmacy, a 19th century Bishop's letters to his diocesan clergy, a collection of late 19th century photographs showing the development of the railway from Bourne to Saxby, the first of a series of volumes of the biographies of Lincolnshire Parish Clergy, an atlas of Town Plans of Lincoln, Bishop's Registers from the 14th century and correspondence between Maurice Johnson of the Spalding Gentlemen's Society and William Stukeley.

Who can join?

Membership is open to all on payment of the annual subscription. Many of the Society's members live in Lincolnshire or elsewhere in the East Midlands; others are Lincolnshire people who have moved away but wish to keep in touch with, and to support the history of their native county. There are individual members living throughout the world. Nearly half of the Society's institutional members are located outside the UK. The appeal of the work of the Lincoln Record Society is very wide.

What are the benefits of membership?

1. Members receive the annual volume published by the Society as part of their annual subscription. The Society's volumes are works of scholarship which are of lasting value and which are used and enjoyed by amateur historians and professional scholars alike. They also provide basic resources for students of all ages working on dissertations and projects. They are unlike monographs and other secondary sources, whose findings may be superseded. Our volumes may go out of print but never out of date.
2. Members receive advanced notice and special discounts on books published in the Occasional Series, and in the Kathleen Major Series of medieval volumes.
3. Members may buy volumes from our back-list at substantial savings over the prices to non-members. Volumes that are out of print are sometimes available second-hand to members through the Honorary Treasurer.
4. The Society's Annual General Meeting takes place in Lincoln every autumn when the annual report and accounts are presented, business matters discussed and there is a lecture on an aspect of Lincolnshire history. This occasion provides an opportunity for members to talk to the office-bearers and to meet fellow enthusiasts over afternoon tea.
5. Other events including the annual conference and book launches which are held around the county during the year with preferential rates for members where events are charged for.

How much does it cost?

The annual subscription is £25 for all members. Payment can either be by cheque made out to the Lincoln Record Society or by Bankers' Order. The form can be downloaded from the Society's website: www.lincoln-record-society.org.uk
